ITALIAN FEUD LED TO SLASHING

Louis Maritone Cut Mrs. Vincenzio Cioni With a Pocket Knife, About Face—Wounds Not Serious—Louis Escaped in Rowboat.

The feud between Louis Maritone, an Italian employed on the street force, and Mrs. Vincenzio Cioni, at whose home Louis was a former boarder, broke out again late Wednesday afternoon when they met on the strand in Ponchockie near the Turkey mill. Mrs. Cioni sustained several slashes about the face, evidently inflicted with a pocket knife, and Louis departed the city via a rowboat, crossing over to the Rhinebeck side of the river.

Police headquarters was notified of the fracas on the Strand and Officers Fout and Wood hurried to the scene. They found Louis missing. Mrs. Cioni was removed to the Bethesda Sanitarium, where her wounds were dressed by Dr. John P. Larkin, and she later returned home. The feud started some time ago, when police headquarters received word from Ponchockie that a man had been badly slashed by a woman. They found Louis badly cut about the head, and he stated Mrs. Cioni had inflicted the wounds with a razor. He was removed to the Kingston City Hospital and she was placed under arrest.

Later she was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of assault in the first degree, and was out on bail. Louis recovered from his wounds and was later discharged from the hospital.

After that slashing the parties had some trouble over a garden and were warned by Judge Schrick to leave each other alone.

Just what started the argument which led to Mrs. Cioni being cut Wednesday is not known.

The last heard of Louis was on his way across the river in a rowboat.

PUNISH MC NABB ASSAILANTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Laredo, Tex., Sept. 4.—The twenty-four Carranzista soldiers, who fired upon an American army airplane, severely wounding its pilot, Captain David W. McNabb, will be punished by Mexican authorities, it was announced today by General Reynaldo Garcia, commander of the Carranza garrison at Nuevo Laredo, across the border.

General Garcia has made a complete report on the incident to President Carranza. A nephew of Garcia is commander of the detachment which fired on the Americans, but was absent at the time.

Mexican officials continued to insist today that the airplane was on the Mexican side of the border, which constituted a "violation of Mexico's sovereignty."

Captain McNabb flatly contradicted these assertions, saying he was well on the American side, and his statements are confirmed by R. J. Leindecker, county assessor, and a dozen residents of the village of Santa Isabel, near where the shooting took place.

Captain McNabb's wound is healing, but he will be off duty for some time.

AMUSEMENT PARK. By Title Acquired Tuesday Has Land For Complete Fair Grounds.

Tuesday deeds were signed, and title taken on the Forsyth property which adjoins the first holdings of the Kingston Fair Grounds Association on Lucas avenue. By the addition of the Forsyth property the association now has one of the finest pieces of property available in the city as a circus or fair grounds. With the addition of the Forsyth property the holdings of the association are large enough to house the largest circus and fair and also give room for the construction of base ball diamonds as well as provide room for other out-door amusements.

Work will be started within a short time on the grading of the new property and the entire grounds will be placed in shape for the coming season. The officers of the Kingston Fair Grounds Association, Inc., are: Aaron Cohen, president; Matthew Herx, secretary; William M. Davis, treasurer.

Day Line Steamer Hit.

The steamer Hendrick Hudson, of the Hudson River Day Line, commanded by Captain Post, while attempting to leave the recreation pier at Tuckers on Saturday, had its starboard rail and several stanchion posts on the starboard side forward of midship, smashed to bits when the stern of the excursion steamer Point Comfort, which was moored on the northern quarter of the pier, swung out and jammed the day liner.

The "Point" on Long Trip.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Lawson 24-passenger steamer Point Comfort, which was en route from Milwaukee to New York City, left Buffalo at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Its next stop will be Syracuse. The trip from Buffalo to Cleveland was made in three hours yesterday afternoon. Nine passengers were carried from Cleveland, and making the trip from here to Syracuse. All were newspaper men.

O. & W. SERVICE AGAIN NORMAL

Cloudburst In Vicinity Of Ellenville Caused Much Damage—Three Bad Washouts On O. & W. Branch Made Passable.

Trains were running on the O. & W. railroad again today on usual schedule time, the incoming arriving at the Fair street station only a few minutes late. Wednesday afternoon a train came from Ellenville about 5 o'clock, and went back a few minutes later, and returned to Kingston about 8:40 o'clock. A stretch of track was built by section men around the washout, a short distance from Wapawach. There were three washouts, one near Wapawach where a culvert was washed away and a stretch of track between Napanoch and Ellenville, a highway bridge over the old D. & H. Canal was swept away and the railroad bed washed from under the rails. There was also about two hundred feet of track washed out beyond Ellenville. On the main line there were no washouts. It is said the damage was caused by a cloudburst as the water came down the hills in streams, carrying along boulders that lay in the fields and the tracks were covered with water, which when it receded left a large quantity of sand and stones. Section men worked all night laying new tracks in order that trains could run today.

"Y" ENTERTAINERS BACK FROM FRANCE

Miss Virginia Los Kamp, contralto soloist and choir director, and Miss Elsa Hillebrand, organist at the Roundout Presbyterian Church, arrived safely from overseas on Tuesday, and landed in New York city. They are expected home later in the week. Both have been overseas during the summer entertaining soldiers in France and Germany. They were sent across by the entertainment bureau of the Y. M. C. A., and have been granted an extended leave of absence by the board of trustees of the Roundout Presbyterian Church to take up the work during the summer months.

GRANDMA WILSON FINED.

Former Saugerties Road Habitué Also Gets Jail Term at Newburgh.

Following repeated warnings issued by Chief of Police Fred C. Brown, acting for the city of Newburgh and army authorities, all of which were unheeded, Miss Grace Wilson, sometimes known as "Grandma" Wilson, who is alleged to have conducted a house of ill fame at 17 Prospect street, Newburgh, was brought into court Wednesday morning, and following her plea of guilty, was fined $100 and given a six months' jail sentence by Recorder Jacob A. Decker. The execution of the latter was suspended, pending good behavior. Two women, supposed inmates of the house, were ordered to leave the city before noon or suffer criminal prosecution. The Wilson woman has been located in Newburgh since she was driven from the Saugerties road a number of years ago.

Give $3,120 to Wilson.

One of the largest awards ever made to a Ponchockie worker under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law was allowed to Clarence Wilson by Deputy Commissioner W. A. Abbott, hearing claims at the court house in that city Wednesday. Wilson was allowed $3,120. Wilson was employed by Lathrop and Shea, contractors, when he was injured on November 22, 1918. He was riding in a motor truck owned by the company, returning from work when the machine encountered in the highway and Wilson's right arm was so badly injured that he was unable to work for many weeks.

CONGRESS TO AID CAPITAL-LABOR CONFERENCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 4.—Congress stands ready to aid in the conference between capital and labor proposed by President Wilson, and with this in view Senator Kenyon of Iowa today called a joint meeting of the labor committees of the house and senate to attempt to give a legal status to the meeting.

A resolution introduced by Senator Poindester of Washington was laid before the joint committee which would give the president "the authority" to call the conference and would pass the way for an appropriation to defray whatever expenses might be incurred.

Senator Kenyon was also hopeful that the joint committee would take action which would lead to the calling into the conference representatives of labor and capital chosen by congress.

Authority would be given to the president to invite to the conference those whom he might desire, but the following would be named as those who should be invited under the terms of the resolution:

E. H. Gary, Frank P. Walsh, Charles E. Hughes, A. B. Garretson, William K. Vanderbilt, Franklin K. Lane, William E. Wilson, John D. Rockefeller, Samuel Gompers, Daniel Guggenheim, Charles H. Moyer, J. P. Morgan, Andrew Furuseth, F. S. Peabody, J. Ogden Armour, Frank J. Hayes, John Fitzpatrick, E. L. Stotesbury and W. D. Mahon.

"This is going to be a big thing for the nation," Senator Kenyon said today. "Of course, I can't say that congress will stand by to aid that all of the far-seeing and thinking members of the congress are ready to help the president in every way to reach an understanding between capital and labor."

WORKERS OPPOSE CUMMINS BILL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cleveland, Sept. 4.—"The passage of such a bill would be class legislation aimed at railroad workers as a class."

This was the declaration of Warren S. Stogie, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, regarding the Cummins railroad bill. He had in mind the provision for compulsory arbitration.

"Compulsory arbitration boils down to compulsory work," he said. "The brotherhoods and other organizations of railroad workers would not permit themselves to be deprived of their last economic weapon, the strike."

Timothy Shea, of the engineers and firemen, notified the brotherhood's legislative representative in Washington that the organization would oppose the bill. He also announced that the demands of the engineers and firemen for 45 per cent wage increase will be presented to the wage board of the railroad administration September 24.

LODGE BADLY HURT.

Now Feared West Shore Conductor Has Fractured Skull.

William Lodge, aged 67 years, whose home is at Union Hill, N. J., a conductor for many years on the West Shore railroad, and well known in Kingston, narrowly escaped death on Tuesday night, during the rush hours. He was conductor on the West Shore express that leaves Westhaver for Dumont, and fell from the platform of one of the cars of his train directly on to the rails of the Ontario and Western Railroad tracks, which run close beside the West Shore tracks between Little Ferry and Ridgefield Park, N. J. The presence of mind of William Gould, engineer of a Susquehanna & Western local, the tracks of which also run beside the West Shore at this point, who saw Lodge lying across and stopped his train, resulted in the rescue of the conductor just before an express train passed over the rails where Lodge had been lying a minute before.

Gould's train was proceeding at a mile ahead of the Ontario & Western express on an adjoining track, when the engineer saw a man in a blue uniform lying on the tracks which the express train used. Immediately he blew his whistle and stopped his train. Members of the crew jumped out and pulled Lodge to safety just as the express thundered by.

The conductor was placed in the baggage car and taken to Hackensack, where he was hurried to a hospital. He had been washed in his head, and it is feared is suffering from a fractured skull.

WILSON ASKS FOR CONFEREES

Farm, Trade and Industrial Bodies Requested to Send in Names—President to Choose From Lists—Conference at White House in October.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 4.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the National Grange and other farm organizations, the National Association of Manufacturers and other great trade organizations of the country have been asked by President Wilson to nominate representatives to attend the conference between labor and industry to be called by the chief executive.

The letters to these organizations, sent out yesterday, asked that a number of names be submitted. From the list of nominees the president will make his own selections. In addition he will name without assistance representatives of the public and some of the great industries of the country.

The conference call will be issued by the president while he is away and just as soon as the necessary acceptances have been received. In the meantime there will be no announcement of the nominees or of those selected.

While the exact date for the conference has not been fixed, it will probably be called for some date between October 5 and 10. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will aid the president in the selection of the labor delegates. A formal letter was sent the federation head today asking him to suggest the names of labor representatives.

R. R. TRACKMEN VOTE FOR STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—Officials of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees announced that the counting of the ballots in the referendum of that organization and railway shop laborers on the question of their striking if their demands for higher wages, now being considered at Washington, were refused, was completed last night, and showed 325,000 for a strike and 3,000 against such action. Officials had every confidence, however, that satisfactory action would be taken by the railroad administration to avert the strike.

The convention of the Brotherhood will consider the matter at Monday morning's session here.

ROUSED AGAINST GLARING LIGHTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Sept. 4 (Special). Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of state troopers is of the opinion that the section of the Motor Vehicle Law relating to dazzling headlights can be effectively enforced in New York state if the attorney general will rule that arrests can be made during the day.

"At present it is impossible for our troopers, to accomplish effective work at night with a force of only 232 men," said Major Chandler. "If the attorney general will rule that arrests can be made during the day where cars are equipped with clear glass headlights, and with bulb of over 24 c. p. our state troopers will begin a campaign that will effectively do away with 90 per cent of the violations of the dazzling headlights law within two weeks. We would start right in inspecting cars and where ever a car was equipped with lights that evidently violate the law, we would take the car, instruct the driver to report to the chief of police in his home town, and we would then forward the name and license number to both the secretary of state and the local police authorities." "Two weeks work of this sort would see the end of 90 per cent of the headlight law violations."

Some drastic action in regard to the enforcement of this law will be taken by the New York State Automobile Association at its annual convention in Albany, October 5th and 6th.

"Accidents resulting from violations of the glaring headlight law are becoming so numerous," said Henry W. Robbins, president of the association, "that law abiding motorists can't take a chance at night driving." Having an approved law and complying with the law, oneself is no protection, as it is the other fellow, the one with the blinding light who causes all the havoc, and he can obtain a strict enforcement of this law no matter how hard he drives in safety upon our highways at night."

A Court House Robbery.

Some daring burglar entered the Federal court house in the court house in Ponchockie on the lower floor and cutting the telephone wire, broke off the telephone and the toll box and made his escape. Sheriff Morehouse, who investigated, found that the telephone, which was fastened by a iron arm to the booth, had been broken off by a sharp blow.

CARPENTERS AND EMPLOYERS FIRM

Details of Wages Paid Here Told by Union Men—Many of 200 Now Out to Leave Town if Demands Not Met.

The carpenters who went out on strike Wednesday when their demands for an increase was not met by the contractors and mill workers of the city, are still out and many of the men may leave town and seek work in other cities where the higher wage is already being paid. The demand is for an increase to 75 cents an hour for an eight hour day and uniform pay.

At headquarters of the Carpenters' Union in Measter's Hall this morning a large number of the striking men were awaiting word from the contractors. This morning the carpenters' side of the story was told a Freeman reporter who called at headquarters. The wage for outside men was said to have been $5 per day, but the inside hands have received a lesser wage, very few of the men receiving as high as $5 per day, and many of them receiving as low as $3.50 per day.

One of the employees at the Palen plant said that he had been receiving $5 per day as a mill hand but many of the others had not received as much and that the average wage that had been paid there was not more than $4 per day. There were approximately 60 men employed at the mill and of these the union claims there were about ten being paid $3.50; about 40 were receiving $4 per day and the remainder $5 a day, or perhaps slightly more for the highest skilled mechanic.

Other mills in town were paying about the same wage but in a few cases, all the mill hands were paid the same as outside men, the wage amounting to $5 per day. The two mill hands employed by Buckley & Schryver have been receiving $5 per day the same as the outside carpenters. The difference in wage between inside work and outside work is not on account of skill but in some cases the men working outside lose time in rainy weather while the mill hand has steady work as long as the mill runs.

It is understood that some of the contractors who have work under way are willing to meet the demands of the men. The men employed on the Standard Oil plant contract in Roundout were paid $6 per day on Wednesday and did not go out on strike. Today they did not work but it is understood that the $6 wage holds good there and will be paid.

Men employed by John Duffner also were paid the scale demanded and did not go out with the other men on Wednesday.

Several of the men stated that if work was not resumed soon in town they would go out of town where carpenters were in great demand. Newark, carpenters, it is said, are being paid 80 cents an hour and an agreement recently made will raise the scale to 90 cents an hour. The carpenters claim also that many of the jobs being done by the contractors in town are not straight contracts but percentage jobs. This being the case they say an increase in wages to the men would not interfere with the employers' profits or cause any loss of money on the part of the contractors.

MORE SHOE SENSE

Would Bring Down Prices, Says Friedman.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 4.—If the public would display more sanity and less vanity in buying shoes, a noticeable depreciation in prices soon would be felt.

This is the gist of a statement issued by Michael Friedman, a member of New York's fair price committee, in a report in which he declares shoe manufacturers have not profited.

In 1914, he says, leather sold for 20 cents a square foot. Today it brings $1.50. Shoes that can be bought in New York for $15 are sold in London for $39 and in Paris for $40.

WORLD JUSTICE KEYNOTE OF PRESIDENT'S FIRST PLEA FOR LEAGUE AND TREATY

Has No Doubt of America's Final Acceptance—League Creators In Paris Sincere In Seeking To Prevent War—Exacts No Indemnities, Only Reparations—League Would Have Prevented Great War—Would Never Have Come Back With Any Other Kind of Treaty.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Memorial Hall, Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 4.—To the strains of "Dixie" led by a good looking young woman, Mrs. Lillian Stocklin, President Wilson entered Memorial Hall at 11:25 today.

Cheering which lasted a trifle more than a minute greeted the president and Mrs. Wilson as they took their seats on the platform.

Following a very brief introductory address by President Thompson of Ohio State University, former Governor Campbell was introduced and made a short address.

Former Governor Campbell characterized President Wilson as "the first citizen of our big round world" and the president again was warmly applauded as he strode to the front of the platform and began his address.

The President's Speech.

"Mr. Chairman, Governor Campbell, my fellow citizens," began the president. "It is with great pleasure that I greet you. I have long chafed at confinement in Washington. I have wanted to report to you and to other citizens of the United States. It has become increasingly necessary that I should report to you. After all of the various angles that the treaty has been held up to you I think that you want to know what is in that treaty. It is unique. I can not do you a better service, nor the peace of the world a better service than to tell you what this treaty does. It seeks to punish a nation that attempted to perpetrate one of the greatest wrongs in history. The men in Paris wanted to do justice. They wanted to punish Germany for her utter disregard for human rights for wrongs to women and children. The people of Europe not only saw their country devastated but a reign of terror inaugurated.

"The people who framed this treaty had no desire to overwhelm Germany. But they intended to burn into the souls of the German people the wrongs they permitted their rulers to perpetrate. I believe from what I can learn that there is a consciousness in German hearts of the wrongs committed. The Austrian delegates admitted that the war was a crime.

"Everything in the treaty was designed not to humiliate Germany but to right the wrongs that she has done. No indemnity is claimed in this treaty. No indemnity reparations there is no indemnity. Do not forget that. And in the terms of reparation they are framed with an object which considers Germany's ability to pay.

The Promise to End All Wars.

"I am astonished at some of the speeches made. They carry statements not facts. This treaty is not intended to end this single war. It is intended to serve notice on any nation that attempts such aggression in the future that the nations of the world are united to punish such attempts."

The president then paid high tribute to the allied causes, declaring that the promises made to the people of the United States must be carried out. He declared that in taking the "power of American youth" to fight the war the nation had promised that the object would be to end wars. Disregard of this promise would be an infamy, the president said.

"This is what the league of nations is for," said the president. "It is to prove to the nations of the world that the nations will combine against any nation that would emulate Germany's example.

League Would Have Prevented Great War.

"The league of nations is based on the experience of the previous war. Germany never would have entered this war if she had known that Great Britain and the United States were to enter it.

"When you are told that the league of nations is for no purpose but to prevent war, tell them that it is not so. The passions and rivalries of the war are not ended. In fact there is a league of nations the most ambitious nations would be ready to attempt aggression. It is to prevent the nations of the world from being plunged into another war. This treaty builds up nations that never could have gained their freedom in any other way. They are built up by cities. The American-English government has held together by military force. Its people did not want to live together. It was a willing partner because she wanted America's strength, even though she was allied with Austria-Hungary, an unrepentant partner. So was Poland, divided between Russia, Austria and Germany. Poland would never have won her independence if it had not been for the league of nations. Small nations had been crushed by the combined power of Europe. They did not intend the small nations should have the right to live their own lives. The American principle was that they have that right. That is what we fought for in Paris. Strategic reasons did not count. We gave the people their own rights.

"Under League Italy Doesn't Need Fiume. "Strategic reasons could not count. There is no one who sympathized more with Italy than I. But I had to refuse to give Italy territory inhabited by Slavic people. They wanted the Adriatic for military purposes. If there is no league of nations Italy needs this territory, but if there is a league of nations Italy need not fear. The nations of the world will protect Italy.

"I had rather have everybody on my side than to be armed to the teeth. Sympathy of mankind will be behind the league of nations."

"The president declared he believed that he could interpret the sentiment of the people better than some of his critics.

"Couldn't Drag Ireland In. "America is the friend of mankind," he said, "and her people know it. If my adversary is armed and I am not, I do not press the controversy. And that will be the attitude of the nations of the world when the league is a fact. Some of us wished that the treaty could reach some age-long wrongs in Europe. But we could not drag these into the treaty. I am hopeful that the time will come when these wrongs, over which we had no jurisdiction, will be righted."

This was the first time that the president had referred, even by inference, to the Irish question and his words were listened to by his audience with the deepest attention. He declared that revolutions do not start overnight, quoting Carlisle's reference to the years of hate behind the French revolution.

"Wals come from the seed of wrongs, not of right," said the president. "This treaty is designed to right the wrongs of Europe. It is a measurable success. Do not forget this fact. There are regions in Europe where you can not draw national lines. There must be approximate lines drawn in many cases. That is what we have done. That is what is being done in the Austrian treaty."

Peoples Vote Makes Boundaries. The president then described how the various boundary lines were drawn in the treaty, explaining that plebiscites were necessary to determine exactly what nation certain peoples wanted to live under. This statement was greeted with applause.

"These people shall have their choice of government," said the president. He declared that this was the governing principle that actuated the peace conference. He told how he had informed the Italian peace delegates that if they were to have every place their racial demands were in the ascendancy it might be necessary to cede New York to them as there were as many Italians in New York as there are in Rome.

"This treaty also contains a magna charter of labor," he continued. "Next month there will meet in Washington an assembly of working men who represent the labor of the world. It will meet, let me tell you, whether this treaty is ratified or not. It will consider the rights of women workers, of child workers. It will forecast the day when peoples will deal with all phases of compensation and otherwise.

Peoples, Not Governments. "Nations consist of their people, not of their governments. Heretofore nations have been thought of as governments only. This is not true in this treaty. Why, while Germany loses her colonies, under this, they are not annexed to any other nation. These colonies are not to be exploited. Their people can not be used to fight the battles of nations that have mandated over them. The mandated power must see that the people of these colonies are protected and their welfare safeguarded.

"I used to be told that this was a time when the mind was monarch. I do not believe that. The treaty designs to drive human endeavor rather and under the better passions of the people of the world. That is the treaty. Did you ever hear of it before? Did you ever tell me this? I want all Americans to read the treaty themselves, or if not, if it is too technical, I wish they would read the interpretation of men who made it. I had a great dread about the selfishness of other countries. I would be doing an injustice to the high minded men with whom I was associated on the other side of the water if I did not say that their hearts were as true as the heart of any American. But we never differed about principle. If I could not have brought back the treaty of a treaty I did bring back I never would have come back.

Trusts Represented at Versailles. "This treaty expresses the heart

ORIGIN OF GREAT MUNITION CENTER

In filming a remarkably interesting tour of America's center of the steel industry at Bethlehem, Pa., for his newest travel festival, Lyman H. Howe ran across some remarkable historical facts about the manufacturing town. Mr. Howe's travel festival comes to the High School Auditorium Monday, September 8, upon its silver jubilee tour.

The fact that America's biggest war material manufacturing plant bears the name of the birthplace of the world's prince of peace has often aroused comment. An examination of historical records shows that on the 24th of December, 1741, a small body of pioneers gathered late at night in a tiny log cabin in the Lehigh Valley. They met to celebrate the Christmas feast, these men who had fled from religious persecutions in Europe and had found a haven on the Lehigh river. Headed by their leader, the aged Count Zinzendorf, they offered up their prayers at midnight. Then the old count, a great deist shining in his eyes, said: "Brothers, how more fittingly could we call our new home than to name it in honor of the spot where the event we now commemorate took place? We will call this place Bethlehem."

So Bethlehem came into being. In the early fifties iron was discovered near Bethlehem and the foundation of the great future steel industry was revealed. The remaining history of the Pennsylvania town, which came to dominate American steel, reads like a fairy tale. Mr. Howe's cameraman has succeeded in filming a remarkable tour of the vast Bethlehem plants. This is one of the interesting features of the new Howe program, which also includes some thrilling tarpon fishing pictures; a hand car ride down the Andes Mountains in Peru, a series showing the famous Woburn girls' camp on Lake Sebago in the Maine woods; visits to the homes and haunts of the famous motion picture stars; a camera hike over the Canadian Rockies; and a visit to the peaceful and beautiful Magnolia Gardens near Charleston, S. C. Animated comedies and trick pictures, typical of the Lyman H. Howe entertainment, round out the program. This new assortment is more amusing and laughable than ever before.

FRESH MEXICAN
OUTRAGE STORYAmerican Woman Reported Killed
And Little Daughter Violated By Bandits Who Killed Would-Be Rescuer.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 4.—Investigation seeking to verify the story of the killing of Mrs. E. A. Martensen, an American woman, and the outraging of her ten year old daughter by Mexican bandits, was being made today. The facts are to be laid before the senatorial committee investigating conditions in Mexico.

The story of the outrage was brought to the border by J. N. Quail, field secretary for the National Association or the Protection of American rights.

Two years ago Mrs. Martensen's husband, forced out of Mexico by the bad conditions, sought work in El Paso and several months later sent his wife $40 in gold. Mexican bandits who saw her receive the gold at Guadalupe, in the state of Chihuahua, followed her to her home. When she refused to let them into the house they shot through the door, one of the bullets wounding Mrs. Martensen. The bandits then broke in and compelled the wounded woman to tell where she had placed the money. After that they demanded that she make them coffee and when she was unable to rise from the floor to go to the kitchen they fired three more bullets into her.

Then seizing the child, according to Quail's story, they tore the clothing from her and when her screams brought a party of passing Mormons to her rescue, the bandits opened fire and killed one of the rescuers. The three bandits are said to have been arrested but later released.

CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT.

At Rosendale Aided By Artist From New York.

At the Rosendale Baptist Church, Labor Day evening, Hanna Brooks Oettinger, and other singers, players, and recitationists gave a delightful entertainment. The large audience applause. Mrs. Oettinger is a quent singer from New York with a sweet and highly cultivated voice and a very winning personality. Her kindness in giving so many numbers for the benefit of the church is greatly appreciated.

Grateful thanks are also due Miss Lydia Berg of Brooklyn who skillfully played the accompaniments for all the musical numbers on the program.

The other musicians were: Miss Harriet Berg, Rev. D. W. Guthrie, William Snyder and Waldemar Berg. Miss Esther Haust and the Misses Jennie and May Le Fevre pleased the audience with bright recitations. A pleasant social time followed.

Although the night was rainy and there were other attractions in town the receipts were $54.00.

RESOLUTION.

That means making up your mind to do a thing. Not making up your mind for some other fellow to do it, but doing it yourself. It's a good trait. It's a good all-the-year trait, but it's pretty rotten when it comes only on New Year's and quits on the second of January. The real resolution stays with a man every day of the week. It does him good; it does his club good and his city good. Join the Chamber of Commerce.

ARE MODERN GIRLS
BRAZEN?

OR ARE THEY ONLY AGGRESSIVE?

Not long ago the "Marrying Man" picked the quiet, old fashioned girl for his wife. Today it's different. The old fashioned girl is mostly forgotten by "Marrying Men," and jokingly referred to when mentioned. The girl of today is not waiting for a husband but she does as much courting as the man. WHY?

IT'S ODD INDEED—BUT SEE HOW.

First Safety Bicycles.

The first of the safety bicycles was put on the market in 1890. In this the high front wheel was reduced and the rear wheel was about two-thirds the height of the front one. The machines with wheels of the same size appeared in 1895. Bicycling began to be popular about 1891, and the "crash" reached its height about 1901, when wheels had become low enough in price to be within the means of the multitude.

To Be of Influence.

If you can't swing things your way in life the sensible thing is to swing with things the way they are going. To be sure you can just abruptly cut away, but that leaves you out of touch with things. It may be a relief to your conscience to be beyond the reach of compromise. But you are also beyond the reach of influence. You can not hope to be able to mold character or even contribute anything toward bending it.

ENTERTAINMENT AT MORGAN HILL

Morgan Hill, Sept. 3.—The Morgan Hill school room was packed for beyond its holding capacity at the entertainment given on August 28, and we greatly regret that such a large number of spectators were obliged to stand during the entire performance and we want to express our appreciation that they accepted the situation in a kindly and good natured manner. Space does not permit us to mention the names of many of the children who made a wonderful impression on the audience by their fine work. We must, however, mention Ellen Conlin, who opened the affair with a very dramatic recital of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Also little Myrtle Emanuelson, who looked bewitching in a picturesque Swedish costume as she sat in a low rocking chair and sang a lullaby to her baby. The whole program seemed to be greatly enjoyed and as only a small admission fee was charged the children were quite elated to hear that the proceeds of their performance amounted to $9.49 which will be used for a new black board, or some other needful article for the school room. Henry Rose and Peter Emanuelson deserve great credit for their work in decorating the stage. Our thanks are also due Mr. Ferrarier and Hubert Beller for assistance in many ways. Mr. Beller was master of ceremonies.

Most Famous Chinese Dish.

What has been considered by Oriental epicures as the delectable dish in China, the "Bird's Nest," is the product of the sea swallow, which constructs its nest of a gelatinous substance taken from sea moss. The Chinese method of preparing the nests for the table is to soak them and boil them in milk until they are very tender. Then they are placed in clear soup and are ready for use. On his trip to China, General Grant was much fettered, and one of the dishes set before him was the bird's nest.

NUT MARGARINE

(ASHBY PROCESS)

The Perfected Nut Butter—Free From All Preservatives

Best Or Your Money Back!

Made by a New, Exclusive Process

The Nut Margarine industry is new in the United States and, until our discovery, Nut Margarine was made by the same process used in making oleomargarine (from animal fats). Because the results of using the oleomargarine process to make nut butter were so unsatisfactory, we decided it was not good enough for us and set about developing a new process. We were successful. We called our new discovery the Ashby Process.

GOODY is different from other nut butters—better—because it is the only one made by this new process—The Ashby Process—which enables us to make a dependable product.

Perhaps you have tried other nut margarine. Perhaps even you have used it for a while. You remember how pleased you were with the idea of nut margarine when you first heard of it.

GOODY is what you hoped other nut margarine would be—uniformly delicious and melts at the same temperature as creamy butter.

No Preservatives

GOODY is made from such pure ingredients by such a skillful, cleanly method that it does not need to be preserved.

The only purpose of a preservative in nut margarine is to cover up the carelessness or the ignorance of the manufacturer.

No Animal Fats

GOODY contains nothing but the white meat of the coconut, peanut oil, pasteurized milk and butter salt. Can you imagine a more appealing food?

You can depend upon GOODY. It is always good when it has been kept as butter ought to be kept.

GOODY "spreads" like butter, making it more economical as well as more satisfactory than other nut butters.

Food prices are high—people cannot afford to experiment—so, for your protection we guarantee GOODY—

Best—Or Your Money Back!

"Buy a pound package of GOODY from your dealer. Serve it on the table. Use it in your cooking. Try it in any way you please. Then, if you do not like GOODY as well as the choicest creamy butter you ever ate, your money will be refunded without a word."

Now we want your ideas about how best we may let everyone else know these things about GOODY.

CASTIGLIONI HEARING SEPT. 12

Luigi Castiglioni and son, John, of East Kingston, were taken before Justice of the Peace Webber, at Flatbush, today to be arraigned for a hearing on a charge of assault in the first degree on Giuseppe Tiano, who was shot twice Saturday night at East Kingston. Robert Howard appeared for the District Attorney's office in behalf of the people and William Glass was the stenographer. William D. Brinnier, Jr., is attorney for the defendants. Tiano, the man shot, is getting along well and is on the road to recovery.

The hearing was adjourned after the defendants were arraigned, on motion of Mr. Howard, for the people, until September 12th, as Tiano the wounded man was not sufficiently recovered to leave the Benedictine Sanitarium, to appear as the complaining witness. It was understood the Castiglioni will be taken before Justice of the Peace Webber again this afternoon and admitted to bail in $1,000 each.

WOOD ALCOHOL DEADLY.

Has Claimed More Victims Since Whiskey Was Banned.

Owing to the heavy increase recently noted in the number of deaths and cases of blindness resulting from the drinking of wood alcohol by those ignorant of its dangers, the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, 130 East 22nd street, New York, is sending broadcast special warnings of the tragic consequences which may follow the use of wood alcohol, denatured and medicated alcohol for beverage purposes.

The warning says: "One teaspoonful of wood alcohol taken internally is sufficient to cause total blindness—a large quantity often causes death. If you value your eyesight or your life, never use wood alcohol, denatured alcohol or medicated alcohol for drinking purposes. Pass this knowledge on if you would assist in reducing the fatalities which are occurring from this cause."

In the haste of compiling the Primary Day Wednesday the compiler made an error in recording the vote for Frank P. Quigley as committeeman in the Seventh ward. There are two districts in that ward and Mr. Quigley, residing in the first district, was nominated for the office of committeeman on the Democratic ticket in that district without opposition while Thomas N. Rafferty received the nomination for Democratic committeeman from the second district of that ward.

THE JAPS HAVE THEIR REASONS

Dense and Increasing Population Compels Seeking For Outlet. Mr. Weyl Tells Rotarians—Can't Count on Voluntary Promise to Get Out of Shantung.

Kingston Rotarians had the privilege at their weekly noonday luncheon on Wednesday of hearing Japan and the Japanese situation briefly discussed by Walter E. Weyl, author, traveler, statistician and editor of the New Republic, who spent several months at the Peace Conference, has spent a year in China and Japan and is now lecturing at Haverst Park, his country home in the town of Woodstock, where he will probably soon become interested in Woodstock town politics. The Rotary singers were in fine voice and celebrated the return of their musical director from his vacation trip by singing with unusual zest so many educational relations that Mr. Weyl complimented the club on its effort and assured the members that they had taught him more about B. V. D.'s and camouflaged oil than he had ever known before.

Dealing in cold facts briefly expressed, without giving opinions or advocating one side or the other of the Shantung controversy, Mr. Weyl gave a highly enlightening outline of the situation. Questions of this kind, questions between nations, he said, are not necessarily moral; they are economic and ethnic Japan is imperialistic and desires to seize territory in China because it must expand. The United States, with a population of 110,000,000 has an area of 2,000,000 square miles, Japan with a population of 60,000,000 has an area of 150,000 square miles, nine-tenths of which is valueless. With more than one-half its population it has only one-twentieth of our land area and only one-tenth of that is of value, so that 60,000,000 Japanese must earn their living on an area one-tenth that of California. Farms are small, the average about two acres. There are practically no cattle because there is no room for them. The birth rate is increasing, while in other lands it is decreasing and there is no outlet for immigration as America, British Columbia and Australia have put up the bars. Immigration to Chinese territory is not practical because the Chinese will underbid and undersell all comers.

So Japan looked to China and sought China, seizing territory which it was later forced to relinquish. Japan entered the war in 1917 because of a special treaty with England, but also because anxious to get the Germans out of Shantung, a part of China they had seized. There are iron and coal in Shantung, undeveloped because in all China the great obstacle to railroad building is the gauges. Chinese think a lot of gauges. So Japan's part in the war was not a struggle against Germany so much as it was for the opportunity to seize part of China while Europe was evenly balanced in the great war. China, later, entered the war in order to protect herself against Japan. After 2500 years of misrule China was endeavoring to maintain the republic. Only one country ever treated China decently and that is the United States. China sought a promise from the United States to protect her at the Peace Conference, but the United States minister had no authority to make a promise. He merely promised to do all he could. China went into the war and the war turned China over to Japan.

Japan fomented revolution in China, stirred up one section against another, forced a morphine trade on China after China had won a victory over itself by banishing the opium trade. At the end of the war China entered the Peace Conference and counted on the support of the United States. Japanese diplomacy was magnificent as diplomacy. Japan wanted for a bad situation to arise and when it came in the dispute over Fiume, a little town of 40,000 people, insisted that the Allies support its claims in the Peace Conference, having to do with a hundred millions of persons. Everybody was doing it, Rumania and Italy. Japan had kept out of all controversies until the time came to concentrate on the one thing, Japan made no enemies. Then when the clash came and Italy withdrew, Japan insisted that England keep her promises and threatened to withdraw, too, unless this was done. Japan got Shantung which, from an economic standpoint was all that she considered worth while. Will Japan keep her promises regarding Shantung? It is said she has always kept promises. This is not true of Japan or of any nation. We cannot count on Japan voluntarily living up to her agreement.

MORE THAN ONE
DELAYING BRIDGE

(Contributed.)

The holding up of the construction of the Rondout-Port Ewen Bridge was, for many years, past, a standing insult to every man woman and child who had both a moral and a legal right to hope for its construction, a right that was made absolutely inalienable when the state set aside the money for this purpose. I said "was an insult," for now, by the reasons for and the manner in which this hold up is continued, it has become an outrage, a rapine of justice. I for one, have absolutely no confidence in anything the present commissioner promises in the matter of immediately continuing and finishing this construction. Like others, he gives us in paraphrase, the same old story so often told before, some "dope" to put our doubts to sleep and a lot of "walla walla" to keep our hopes alive.

In a play in N. Y. C. a debtor says to a creditor: "Look here, Sol, when a man goes into bankruptcy once, it may be an accident; when he does it a second time, it gets to be suspicious; but when he fails a third time, den he is a bad habit mit him, and he needs some one to get after him."

It is inconceivable that any one man alone is holding up this affair unless he is in a position to make use of confederates and accessories and for these reasons a movement will soon be started "to get after them" in a manner that will bring results.

How this is to be done will be outlined in a plan to be given in some future edition of The Freeman. The scheme is so big and so far reaching that lack of time and space forbids more than a passing mention of it today.

There are many persons in Rondout, Kingston and Port Ewen, who for selfish, mercenary, sordid reasons, do not want the bridge. Some of these, gently or indifferently, say they do want it. They are compelled to be hypocrites, for they know if they worked openly against the bridge, their conduct would be a stench in the nostrils of every decent person. Others are silent, and sometimes silence is a confession.

The present commissioner totally ignores the answers to the charges on which he bases the condemnation of the piers already finished and paid for.

By their reputations for brains, efficiency and honesty we know the men who planned and built the present piers; but as to the present commissioner, we would be justified in asking—Who in—Heaven—are you, who by a wave of your hand and a phrase, dare to wipe out all this work, utterly regardless of the loss of money, time and reputations such an act would cause others?

Thus he deliberately condemns one pier entirely, and in his imagination, sticks a new pier in the bed of the old canal, and thus makes it easy for him not to go ahead with the construction. Does he wish some one to tell him what this new move of his involves?

I have been told by some influential persons, "Oh you must not do anything now, it might spoil the whole business, and continue the hold up. It has ceased to be a party affair, and is now non-partisan, for the biggest office holders in each party are working for it in perfect harmony."

Well, I have always thought that apparently, it did not take much to hold up the affair, that any "lawyer" or state policeman entering a mild objection to the construction could hold it up, but if such an insignificant person as I am can help the "hold up" by telling a few things that nearly all know and believe true, then surely the case is hopeless.

So, friends, you see it has, without your urging, developed into a kind of universal brotherly love affair. And as a well-known professional man said to me—"I suppose if the prohibition party finally proves its worth and strength, it also will be allowed to become a member of this 'brotherhood'."

"Non-partisan?" I rather think that this good political thing has now become bi-partisan, and when the doctor's prophecy shall have become true, the affair will be a tripartite "bund."

"Patience?" "Hope?" "Trust?"—Patience has ceased to be a virtue; Hope has proved herself a liar; and Trust has turned traitor.

The time has come to "shoot" at everything that manifests even the slightest sign of camouflage. And that is just what this organization will do. Shoot to kill anything that is not what it pretends to be in this bridge hold-up scandal.

Secret Amendment to War Risk Insurance Law.

Four vital amendments to the war risk insurance act as proposed by the Secret bill now before congress. An American Legion bulletin outlined them as follows yesterday:

1. The payment of converted insurance at the election of the insured, in one lump sum or in thirty or more installments. This is conversion insurance which has been converted into straight life insurance, twenty to thirty year endowments or paid up life insurance. Under the present law this insurance is paid in 240 monthly installments.

2. An increase in the class of beneficiaries and insurance so that widows, orphans, mothers, stepmothers, sisters-in-law and persons in loco parentis may be included as beneficiaries.

STATE AUTOISTS
MEET OCTOBER 6

By Telegram to The Freeman, Albany, Sept. 4.—(Special)—Peter G. Ten Eyck, chairman of the convention program committee for the New York State Automobile Association, announced today that former Governor Martin H. Glynn would preside as toastmaster at the banquet to be held October 6, at the Ten Eyck Hotel during the annual convention of the automobile association.

Governor Alfred Smith, Speaker Sweet, of the legislature, and Richard Enright, police commissioner of New York city, are three of the speakers and it is said the fourth speaker will be a well known woman prominent in club work. So many motorists are now active in good roads' work that it was thought quite proper that the views of the women should be expressed through their own representative.

In speaking of the convention, Henry W. Robbins of Medina, president of the association, said today: "With the program of proposed legislation laid out by the law and legislation committee which will be held upon at this convention, there is every reason to believe many drastic enforcement laws will be recommended by the association. Especial attention has been given to automobile thefts. Already this year more cars have been stolen than during the entire year of 1918, and the record of arrests and convictions for these thefts is not increasing in proportion. Some radical legislation is needed to protect the vast amount of property involved and the recommendations of our committee seem to accomplish this."
